The bottle is complete. It is circular in shape, with a bulging wall, a drooping shoulder and a long, cylindrical neck tapering to the top. The neck has a double-beveled ring and a high, slightly tapered lip with a flat top. The lower part of the wall is similar to the shoulder and continues to the bottom. The bottom has a flat fulcrum and a small domed center with a trace of glass pontil. There is a seal applied to the shoulder: circular in shape, it has a bulging edge. It is set with an oval medallion made of a strand of pearls surrounding a swollen ring, and two letters aligned in relief: WW. ; None, other than the shape of the object and the color of the glass, as well as the seal.
