The bottle is complete, except for a chip on the neck. It is cylindrical in shape. In cross-section, it has a bulging wall, a rounded shoulder and a high, tapering neck, ending in a neck with a high, uneven annular ring, below a straight lip with a fire-polished top. The base is rounded and the bottom has a domed fulcrum; the center is sunken into a cone, and shows a trace of blowpipe pontil. In transparency, the glass is a yellowish-green ; none other than the shape of the object.
