

Beer bottle

<https://collections.pacmusee.qc.ca/en/objects/beer-bottle-2018-010-0571/>

Collections / Post-war to present day / beer bottle

CC BY-NC-ND 4.0 license

The bottle is complete. It is cylindrical in shape. In cross-section, it has a straight wall, a drooping shoulder and a straight neck, topped by a neck highlighted by a raised ring and made of a high, bulging ring and a high, slightly tapering lip towards the top, with a flat top. The base is rounded, the fulcrum flat and wide, the bottom domed, with an off-center circular burr. There is a vertical mold line on the opposite walls; this line crosses the shoulder and the neck, and goes under the neck, where it continues in a thinner line. Below the bottom, the mold line joins the burr ; none, except for the shape of the object.

Accession Number 2018.10.571

Period 20th century

Materials dark green colored glass

Measurements 25,4 x 2,8 cm

© Collection Pointe-à-Callière, Paul-Gaston L'Anglais fonds, 2018.010.0571

Photo by René Bouchard

On display