

Blackening bottle

<https://collections.pacmusee.qc.ca/en/objects/blackening-bottle-2018-010-0418/>

Collections / From federalism to the end of the Second World War / blackening bottle

CC BY-NC-ND 4.0 license

The bottle is incomplete: a small portion of the neck is missing. It is square-shaped, with slightly depressed and deformed walls, and a rounded shoulder; the neck is cylindrical and straight upwards, and has a straight, high lip with a flat top. The base has a wide, flat fulcrum, and the center is recessed and flat. The glass is an almost black green color. There is a vertical mold line on two of the opposite corners; this line crosses the shoulder and part of the neck, it goes to the base. There are traces of tinfoil on the neck and mouth; none other than the color of the glass and the shape of the bottle.

---

Accession Number 2018.10.418

Date 1891 c

Materials dark green colored glass

Measurements 13,5 x 4,2 x 4,2 cm

---

© Collection Pointe-à-Callière, Paul-Gaston L'Anglais fonds, 2018.010.0418

Photo by René Bouchard

On display