

Bottle

<https://collections.pacmusee.qc.ca/en/objects/bottle-2018-010-0371/>

Collections / From federalism to the end of the Second World War / bottle

CC BY-NC-ND 4.0 license

The bottle is complete, with only small chips missing from the top of the neck. It is cylindrical in cross-section. In profile, the body is tapered at the bottom, with a rounded shoulder. The neck is slightly tapered at the top and cylindrical in shape, with a domed lip and flat top. The neck also features a double-beveled ring at some distance from the top. The bottle has a swollen base and rests on a flat bottom. The body and outer surface are a brownish-orange color. The turning rings are somewhat visible on the outer wall ; None, apart from the orange-brown color of the outer surface.

Accession Number 2018.10.371

Date 1891 c

Materials ceramics, coarse sandstone from the Bray-Beauvaisis-Loire region

Measurements 40,2 x 3,711 cm

© Collection Pointe-à-Callière, Paul-Gaston L'Anglais fonds, 2018.010.0371

Photo by René Bouchard