

Carbonated water bottle

<https://collections.pacmusee.qc.ca/en/objects/carbonated-water-bottle-2018-010-0565/>

Collections / From federalism to the end of the Second World War / carbonated water bottle

CC BY-NC-ND 4.0 license

The bottle is complete. It is cylindrical in shape. In cross-section, the bottle has a straight wall, a drooping shoulder and a straight neck, topped by a neck wider than the neck and made of a flared ring with a rounded base and a swollen lip with a flat, wide top, i.e. Crown type. The base is rounded, the fulcrum flat and wide, the bottom recessed and flat; it has an uneven circular burr in the center. There's a vertical mold line on the opposite walls; this line crosses the shoulder and neck, and runs under the neck, where it continues in a thinner line. Under the base, the mold line joins the ring ; None, except for the green color of the glass.

---

Accession Number 2018.10.565

Date 1930 c

Materials dark green colored glass

Measurements 20,4 x 2,657 cm

---

© Collection Pointe-à-Callière, Paul-Gaston L'Anglais fonds, 2018.010.0565

Photo by René Bouchard