

Medicine bottle

<https://collections.pacmusee.qc.ca/en/objects/medicine-bottle-2018-010-0408/>

Collections / From federalism to the end of the Second World War / medicine bottle

CC BY-NC-ND 4.0 license

The bottle is complete. It is rectangular in shape. In cross-section, the bottle has a straight wall, a rounded shoulder and a straight neck topped by a straight lip with a flat top. The base of the bottle is slightly recessed and beveled, and the bottom is slightly sunken. One side and the sides of the body are recessed. There's a vertical mold line on two of the opposite corners; this line runs across the shoulder and neck, to the neck and base. There is a raised mold mark below the base: 4 ; None, other than the glass tint and bottle shape.

Accession Number 2018.10.408

Date 1891 c

Materials green-tinted glass

Measurements 16,1 x 3 x 5,3 cm

© Collection Pointe-à-Callière, Paul-Gaston L'Anglais fonds, 2018.010.0408

Photo by René Bouchard