

Sauce bottle

<https://collections.pacmusee.qc.ca/en/objects/sauce-bottle-2018-010-0909/>

Collections / From the Conquest to the founding of Canada / sauce bottle

CC BY-NC-ND 4.0 license

The bottle is complete, except for a chip on the neck. It is rectangular with chamfered corners. In cross-section, it has a straight wall, a rounded shoulder and a high neck tapering upwards, ending in a neck with a straight, uneven annular ring, below a frustoconical lip with an uneven, fire-polished top. The base is straight and slightly recessed, and the bottom has a wide fulcrum; the center is sunken into a dome, and shows a trace of sand pontil. There are two mold lines from the underside of the base to the neck at mid-height ; none other than the shape of the object and the green color of the glass.

---

Accession Number 2018.10.909

Date 1820 c

Materials dark green colored glass

Measurements 16,7 x 4 x 6 cm

---

© Collection Pointe-à-Callière, Paul-Gaston L'Anglais fonds, 2018.010.0909

Photo by René Bouchard